Art Unit: 1714

Applicant's election with traverse of Group II in the reply filed on February 26, 2007 is acknowledged. But, applicant failed to traverse.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Furthermore, applicant had elected the same amended claims (which were non-elected) after non-final rejection (applicant did not elect other groups such as Group I containing claims 1-10). Thus, the instant office action is made final since the elected claims (before the instant amendment) had been examined before. Another words, presence or absence with respect to status of method claims 1-10 in non-final rejection was immaterial. Currently elected claims are actually non-elected claims in the original election and they are being examined now rather than holding applicant non-responsive.. Also, notes that the amended claim 48 does not belong to the instant art unit, and the application was transferred to the instant examiner after applicant's election of the original claim 48, a fusible latex binder. Now, it is impossible to transfer back the application to the previous examiner since non-final action had been issued already.

Specification is objected and insertion of latex exhibiting self-adhesive properties at room temperature is needed since specification (such as [0004] and [0036]) teaches a system temperature rather than room temperature/

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 48, 49, 51-53, 55-58, 71 and 72 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

This is New Matter rejection since the recited "such that said latex layer remains in place on said first microporous layer without requiring a second binder and without being fused" in claim 48 does not have support in originally filed specification and since applicant failed to point out any support thereof. Negative limitation must need an exclusive support. The recited latex exhibiting self-adhesive properties at room temperature does not have support.. Also, the recited "a first microporous layer comprising a first binder" does not have support. Applicant must point out support when claims are amended after the office action.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 48, 49, 51-53, 55-58 and 71 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kasperchil et al (US 7,086,732).

Kasperchil et al teach multi-layered microporous coating in abstract and fig. 1 and at col. 3, line 27 to col. 5, line 60 wherein hydrophobic core-hydrophilic shell polymers are taught. The monomers for the hydrophilic shell are taught at col. 6, lines 4-48. Acrylates encompass the instant butyl acrylate, for example. Fusion by heat and use of a coalescing agent are taught at col. 8. The hydrophobic core has a T_g of about 35°C-180 °C (col. 5, line 25-27) and thus the T_g of hydrophilic shell encompasses the instant room temperature since the T_g of said shell is lower than that of core.

Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422

Art Unit: 1714

F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 48, 49, 51-53, 55-58 and 71 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-7 of U.S.

Patent No. 7,086,732. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because a core-shell polymer of said patent encompasses the instant core-shell polymer as discussed above.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
